John' Lamont

Tradition is that the grandfather of the subject of this record, also named John, lived and died in Coleraine, County Antrim, Ireland, and was of a Scotch family.

His widow and the two younger sons came to America about 1750. - the oldest son having been brought over earlier. The family united and settled in Noblestown, N. Y. - in the north part of the present town of Hillsdale, Columbia Co., New York. The three sons were:-

When but a boy Archibald was enticed aboard a ship, kidnapped, brought to America and sold to a man on Long Island to serve as an apprentice. Later he joined his mother and brothers and settled in the north part of Noblestown, (Hillsdale) N. Y.

He served in the French and Indian Wars as a private soldier in Capt. Johannis Hogeboorn's Company. This company was raised in the region about Claverack, N. Y.

Late in life, when nearly 60 years old, he married Abiah Smith who was then but 18 years old. They had several children but the records of them are not at hand. One son, Archibald, is buried by the side of his father, in the cemetery at North Hillsdale, N. Y. Another son removed to Michigan where, it is said, a township was named for him. A daughter married a Mr. Wiltse.

Archibald's descendants removed to the western part of New York State and were pioneer settlers in the region about Lockport and Rochester.

Robert came to America with his mother about 1750, and settled in Noblestown, New York. He, like his brother, Archibald, was a private soldier in the French and Indian Wars, in Captain Johann's Hogeboorn's company.

Tradition says he married a Miss Brown, probably after reaching America. She, too, was from the North of Ireland and very probably of Scotch ancestry. She survived her husband some years and moved, with her daughter, Mrs. Mary Gorse, to Fulton, Schoharie Co, N. Y. where she spent her last days. Her unmarked grave was on the farm of a relative - its location is probably now lost.

Robert is buried in the cemetery in North Hillsdale, N. Y. An appropriately inscribed brown-stone head piece marks his grave.

3- John² Lamont (John')

The date of his birth has not been found. He was the youngest of the three sons, and came to America with his mother. No further record of him has come to light. Whether he finally settled elsewhere or whether he died in early life is not known.

His name does not appear on the rolls of soldiers who served in the French and Indian Wars, from New York.

6- Archibald³ Lamont (Robert²; John')

He was probably born in North Hillsdale, Columbia Co., N. Y., but the date is unknown.

Little is known of him but it appears probable that he, too, moved westward, into Schoharie Co., N. Y. He had a daughter, named Orange Lamont - named, no doubt, from the Prince of Orange - hero of the Scots in the North of Ireland. This daughter married Garrit Van Tuyl, and lived in Summit, N. Y.

Archibald was a soldier in The Revolution.

6- William³ Lamont (Robert;² John')

b. 1756, North Hillsdale, Columbia Co., N. Y.

d. Nov. 1, 1848 : West Pomfret, N. Y.

m. (1) Mrs. Phebe Perkins (nee Gorse)

d. June 12, 1789, North Hillsdale, N. Y.

He was a soldier in the Revolution, in the New York records of which his name is given as William Lemon. Near the close of the war, probably about 1779 or '80, he married Mrs Phebe (Gorse) Perkins. They first lived on their farm, 3 miles west of North Hillsdale, at the foot of Cokeout mountain. She died June 12, 1789 and is buried in the old cemetery in North Hillsdale, where her grave is marked by a suitably inscribed stone. She died in her 38th year.

By this union there were seven children born - three of whom were, Matthew, William and Betsey William³ Lamont m. (2) Miss Mary Rodman, May 17, 1800, at Hillsdale, N. Y.

To them were born, Perkins, June 7, 1803; Albertus E., Dec. 19, 1805; Caroline, Feb. 26, 1809 - died Aug. 28, 1821; Hannah, Jan. 15, 1813; and Sally Ann, Sept. 13, 1817.

About 1801 or 1802, William Lamont disposed of his Hillsdale farm and removed to the west part of the town of Middlebury, which was later set off as the town of Fulton, Schoharie Co., N.Y. Here he bought a farm upon which he for some years. He then went west and located in Pomfret, near Fredonia, Chautauqua Co., New York.

William's great-grandson, Rev. Thomas Lamont compiled and published, in 1915, "A Brief Account of the Life of Thomas William Lamont, and of his Family" Thomas William was the father of Rev. Thomas.

In compiling this present record, in hand, the above publication has been freely drawn upon for records of the early families.

6-Mary³ Lamont (Robert²; John¹)
 Born in North Hillsdale, Columbia Co., N.Y.
 but date unknown.

She married John Gorse and settled in Fulton, Schoharie Co., N.Y. They had three or four sons who lived in that town.
 Among them were:—

Robert, the father of Rev. Charles Gorse and of Rev. William Gorse—Methodist clergymen in the N.Y. Conference. Another son was father of Rev. John E. Gorse, of the same conference. Ephraim Gorse was a successful lawyer in western New York and a member of the State Senate.

It is not known where Mary (Lamont) Gorse died but it probably was in western New York, whither her husband moved.

The sequence of their births is not known; the above order is computed from meager data.

The object of this manuscript is to compile and record such genealogical data as has thus far come to hand concerning the descendants of the above John Lamont. A sketch of his life need not be made here since a more detailed account of it is recorded elsewhere. Suffice it to say, he was an active soldier in the Revolution, serving many enlistments, from the time of its beginning till peace was declared. His war record is full of thrilling experiences. Throughout his life he was a frontiersman, fighting in the advance lines to bring civilization to the wilderness. Every descendant of his may be justly proud of this typically American sire.

Jacob Bartholomew, son of Theobald and grandson of John, was one of the very early settlers of Geneva, Ashland Co. Ohio. In the War of 1812 he was a captain of a company raised in that county. Following the war he was commissioned a Colonel in the Militia. He established the first hotel in Geneva. At the organization of that town, in 1816, he was one of the judges of the election. One record states that he died in 1825, but this date has not been verified.

Daniel Gregory, son of Ezra, went from New York State, with his father's large family, and was a pioneer settler of Harpersfield. He was a soldier in the War of 1812, in Capt. Jacob Bartholomew's company. The history of Ashtabula County states that he died in Indiana. He was living in Harpersfield, Ohio as late as Aug. 16. 1830, when he signed a deed, as a witness, which transferred certain land from John & Elizabeth Lamont to Harry Bishop, of Harpersfield. Whether Sarah was then living or whether she too went to Indiana and there died, does not appear. The location in Indiana has not been determined.

Robert accompanied his father and Benjamin Custin from New York to the Ohio country about 1801. In Dec. 1809 he bought land and located in Harpersfield, O. He was a soldier in the War of 1812, serving in Capt. John R. Reed's company, under Gen. Harrison. Gen. Winchester's army was disastrously defeated at the battle of the River Raisin, Jan. 22, 1813, and the American prisoners were taken to Malden. On hearing of the defeat, Gen. Harrison dispatched Dr. Samuel M'Keehan with medicine and money to relieve their distress. He was accompanied by Robert Lamont, as body guard, and a Frenchman, named Tessier, as guide. They traveled under a flag of truce. This was Jan. 30, 1813. Their first night's camp was in a cave on the north bank of the Maumee, near the rapids. The flag stood before it. That night the Indians fired upon them, killing Robert, whom they mutilated with the tomahawk, scalped and stripped, and wounded Dr. M'Keehan who, with Tessier, they carried to Canada as prisoners.

George W. Thompson, as a young man, went from New York State to Ohio with his father, the family first settling in Millsford (now Dorset) Ohio. Later George W. located in Geneva, where he married. He was a carpenter and millwright and was employed in a mill just north of the center of Geneva. In 1836 he migrated, with his young family, to Illinois. The first winter was spent in Naperville. The following year he located in St. Charles, Kane County, on the Fox river, where he remained the rest of his days.

R. Sheldon Thompson learned the blacksmith trade and followed it for half his life, sometimes supplementing with farming. When five years old, his family removed from Geneva, Ohio, to the Illinois frontier. In 1853 he crossed the plains, by ox team, to California. In 1871, returned, to Belmond, Iowa. In 1874 removed to Kansas. It was there he felt the call to bring the gospel to the frontier people and was ordained a minister in the Baptist church. Through all his eventful life of four score and ten years he followed his Master in that "he went about doing good."

Anson A. Pike's life was lived on the frontier. In 1830, with his father, Col. Luke Pike, U.S.A. he went to Illinois. He was with Col. John C. Fremont in the conquest of California, at the beginning of the Mexican War. He was a stone mason and spent much time in the construction of government posts in the West. He acted as guide to many parties traveling through that country. While Abraham Lincoln was supt. of schools in Bloomington, Ill., he and Pike planned the first brick and stone school house erected at that place, which Pike built.

Post Script

The foregoing is an abbreviated compilation of the records and ancestry of all those descendants of John Lamont of whom I have been able to learn the names. There are many others, I know, but a lack of interest on the part of many to whom I have written deprives me of the pleasure of recording them at this time.

As to the system used in recording these families may fittingly be explained here. Each family is given a page for its record. The numeral preceding the name of a child, in any family, is a forward reference to the page on which that person's own family is recorded. The numeral preceding the name at the head of each page is a back reference to the paternal family of that person. The names following that at the head of each page, in parentheses, indicates the line of ancestry of that person; the index numeral of each of these designates the generation of descent from John Lamont, of Coleraine, Ireland. This is an adaptation of a system commonly used in published genealogies. Following the system one may record other families on the following pages as the data comes to hand, and by the cross-reference numerals, readily connect them with those here recorded.

Many gaps are open in the foregoing records which may be closed as the data is received. I have endeavored to record only such data as I have reason to believe to be authentic and so, fully trustworthy. As this is intended only as a genealogical record, much historical data, pertaining to many of the individuals, has been omitted.

As a small token of my appreciation of the valuable aid she has so kindly given me, I am happy to present this copy to my kinswoman, Miss Nell M. Custin,

With expression of high esteem,
Charles Henry Thompson

Amherst, Massachusetts
October, 1928.
